

ARE WE REALLY EXPERIENCING (OR WILL WE SOON BE EXPERIENCING)
CATASTROPHIC
ANTHROPOGENIC (MAN-MADE)
GLOBAL WARMING (AGW)?

Ten's of thousands of scientists say NO!
(See link below to The Global Warming Petition Project)

Here are some links from the OTHER SIDE of the Global Warming Controversy!

Disclaimer: *I am not vouching for the 100% accuracy of any of these sources. Much of science is built on healthy scientific debate and I am certain that there are those who would challenge some of the things presented in these links. I am simply presenting them to provide the opportunity to hear and read some of the other side of the AGW (Anthropogenic [man-made] Global Warming) argument. Some of these are suitable for non-science types while others can get pretty technical. Some interesting links about the 2008 & 2009 International Conference on Climate Change (NYC) are listed at the end of this document. Some of the links listed here may no longer be active, but most should still be accessible. If you have any comments, feel free to e-mail me at Stanley.Goldenberg@noaa.gov. Stan Goldenberg (HRD/AOML/NOAA) [NOTE: If you have received this list of links as a hardcopy handout, feel free to e-mail me to receive an electronic version. The Great Global Warming Swindle http://youtube.com/watch?v=8f8v5du5_ag (Broken into 8 parts. Just go to Youtube.com and search for "The Great Global Warming Swindle") --- This special, originally presented on British TV(?), is a lengthy, detailed rebuttal by prominent scientists of many of the common global warming myths.

<http://www.independent.org/newsroom/article.asp?id=1945> (comment about "Swindle")

I recommend ordering the DVD which has some excellent extra segments:

Congressional Testimony by Dr. John Christy, (U. of Alabama, Huntsville), a Climate Meteorologist, who was a lead author (2001) and contributor to the IPCC reports. Shares folly of “science by consensus” and much more. Fascinating reading. http://www.nsstc.uah.edu/atmos/christy/ChristyJR_EC_v2Written.pdf

Dr. Chris Landsea (NHC) Resignation Letter from IPCC: Dr. Landsea, an well-known expert in hurricane climate studies, explains why he feels the IPCC process (at least for his area of expertise) has become politicized. Interesting reading! http://sciencepolicy.colorado.edu/prometheus/archives/science_policy_general/000318chris_landsea_leaves.html

LOTS OF MISC. GOOD STUFF: <http://www.globalwarming.org/research>

Hurricanes & Global Warming: From my personal research & examining research of others – there has been no measurable increase in hurricane activity associated with any long-term sea-surface temperature increase (aka global warming). International Conferences on Climate Change (ICCC) (NYC March 2008 & 2009): Attended by ~500 people in 2008 and over 600 in 2009 – a combination of scientists, economists, policy makers, media, etc. Most gathered did not support the notion that we are in danger of a man-made global warming crisis. (Those attending were mainly Climate Change Realists rather than alarmists. I personally attended & spoke at both conferences. Speaker bios, powerpoint, audio & some videos of presentations can be accessed at:
